Please add my voice and that of my husband, Stephen to this call for remedy.

A pedestrian is an individual who is traveling on foot or one using an assistive device to get from point A to point B. A pedestrian is not someone stationed at an intersection for the purposes of obtaining money.

The city has placed an extra burden on motorists who are already navigating roads designed to handle less traffic than when they were built, compounded by ongoing construction.

The failure to address this problem has caused increased loitering in more dangerous locations in recent weeks. It will result in people being killed and lives left in ruin. The city's failure to address many of the issues it's facing is stacking up on the building blocks this issue.

Address it now before it is too late.
